MROOKLYN CLUB REFUSES TO BUY TUCKER'S RELEASE FOR $300.

In Opposed by John V. McKane's Lawyer. The Brooklyn Bassball Club received a chance secure the release of Tom Tunker, the noted first baseman of the Washington Club, for $300 In cash yesterday and did not take it. Mesers. Ebbets and Barnie gave as a reason that they believed Lachance would fill the bill this seawanted to see him retained on account of his popularity. Some time ago THE SUN called ation to the fact that the Washington Club was contemplating a deal whereby Tucker ald be traded or "farmed" to the Kansas City Club, and that it was strange why such a first the League. Shortly after that Tucker resived a letter from J. Earl Wagner of the Washington Club, which stated that Tucker could but his release for $300, and that the offer would stand until Jan. 5. Tucker promptly wrote to some friends in this city asking them to see if either the New York or Brooklyn club would purchase his release at these figures. sident Freedman of the New York Club de clined to take Tucker because he said he had Ill Clark and Joy :e for first basemen, although It was pointed out to him that Tucker at any stage of the game is a better ball player than either of these men, Tucker's friends then communicated with the Brooklyn Club, represented by Ebbets and Barnie. They felt confident that Tucker would be signed, because it was a well-known fact last senson that Lachance was roundly scored by the officials of the club for poor playing. The additional fact that Ebbets, when he secured control of the announced that no expense would be spared to strengthen the Brooklyns increased the belief that Tucker would wear a Brooklyn uniform this season. Last Monday Ebbets was id seemed favorably impressed with it. He consulted Manager Barnie, who was out town at the time. The latter's attitude oward Tucker was thought to be an obstacle the deal, because in 1890 Tucker deserted Barnie's Baltimore team to join the Bostons, but when Barnie was charged with the case a point on Thursday he said that he had nothing against Tucker and would like to have him on the Brooklyn team. He declared then that Tucker would be an improvement over Lachance.

Tucker would be an improvement over Lachance.

As Tucker was still on the reserve list of the Washington Club on Wednesday, which was the last day of grace given to him by Wagner, the player was advised by his friends to accept the terms for his release and send on the money, after first coming here to find what the Brookyn Club would do. Accordingly Tucker came to town resterday, and while here he received a forwarded despatch from Holyoke, which had been sent to him by J. Earl Wagner, to the effect that Tucker could get an absolute release and be free to sign anywhere the moment Wagner received $300 in cash. Ebbets and Barnie were seen at Brooklyn yesterday afternoon by Tucker. Ebbets said that he and Barnie had considered the matter and they had decided it was better to keep Lachance. Harnie's attention was called to his statement of Thursday that he would rather have Tucker than La-chair was better to keep Lachance. Harnie's attention was called to his statement or Thursday that he would rather have Tucker than Lachance, but he got out of the predicament by anying that Ebbets was the one to decide. Then abbets said in the presence of Tucker:

"We appreciate Tucker's worth, and if he bould play shortstop we would sign him at bone. But we have come to the conclusion that Lachance is too popular here and too good a hister to release. It isn't a question of giving up $300 for Tucker's release, or agreeing upon a salary, but we do not feel able to have two first basemen under contract and in that way lose $700 or more until we have just put up a large sum of money for the minority stock in the club, and we are all tangled up yet as to where we will play next season. It looks as if we will have to go back to Eastern Park, and we must keep down expenses."

It was pointed jout to the Brooklyn officials that Tucker, in the official averages, had exceeded Lachance's fixures in hatting, fielding and base running for the past two years and the Brooklyn team needs a coacher and a man who will fight for victory. "We made one bad break by letting Tommy Corcoran go," Ebbets and Barnie said, "and if we iet Lachance go we may be sorry for it." Tucker officed to forfer $500 at the end of next season if he did not hit better than .329, which was his average last year, but that was of no avail. The Brooklyn men were a unit, and Tucker left for his home as inght, pretty well convinced that the Lague clubs are underestimating his worth. If he concludes to buy his release to-day from Wagner he will probably receive a number of offere from other League club, as all are under the impression that he has been "farmed" to offere from other League club as all are under the impression that he has been "farmed" to offere from other League club, as all are under the impression that he has been "farmed" to offere from other League club is a life greenes with the officials over the salary question and has signed a contract with the officials over the salary question and has signed a contract. Warner's record of catching in 110 games caused him to believe that his services were indispensable, but the engagement of Mike Grady, who is a better ball player and catcher than Warner, is thought to be the reason for Jack's surrender.

About three weeks ago THE SUN printed in a column of the paper devoted to baseball goesip a stery purporting to give an account of the reasons why Mr. Kelly, the well-known football and baseball player at Princeton University, falled of election this year as Captain of the Princeton baseball team. It was stated that Mr. Kelly had had trouble with Bradley, Captain of the Princeton baseball team two years ago, and, because of an act of insubordination, was retired to a substitute place on the team. Because of this insubordination it was said that Kelly lost his chance to lead a university team, the players realizing that if Kelly did not believe in obeying his captain's orders he could not make others obey him. The Sun printed the story in perfect good faith on information received from one who was supposed to be perfectly conversant with athletic affairs at Princeton.

It has recently been brought to the attention at Princeton.

It has recently been brought to the attention of The Sun, and The Sun ascertains upon investigation that the story referred to is wholly untrue. There was no act of insubordination by reason of which Kelly came into difficulty with Capt. Bradley, and hence this fictitious trouble played no part in the election of a baseball Captain at Princeton this year. Mr. Kelly is not now Captain of the Princeton baseball team, for reasons reflecting the greatest credit to himself and to his loyalty to the best interests of Princeton. We tender our sincere apologies to Mr. Kelly and to the students of Princeton.

The exclusive announcement in The Sun on Dec. 19 that a big fighting club would shortly be opened at Coney Island under Tom O'Rourke, smanagement was further confirmed yesterday when a lease of the old Coney Island A. C. property was drawn up at the Brooklyn Real Estate Exchange in favor of O'Rourke. Before the lease can be signed, however, the permission of the Supreme Court must be received. The Coney Island A. C. property, as part of the estate lied up by the suit of Katle Bauer against John Y. McKane, is in the hands of a receiver. Counsel for Reisa yesterday received from Justice Maddox of the Supreme Court an order to show cause why the receiver should not be permitted to make the lease. This was necessary because the counsel for John Y. McKane objected to the lease. The matter, aside from the court proceedings, will be straightened out, and a Bosanse will be applied for at once, O'Rourke is said to be backed by Senator 'Tim' Sullivan and other influential politicians. The first big fight to be pulled off at the new club will be between George Dixon and Solly Smith, originally slated for San Francisco.

A movement is on foot to reopen the Broadway A. C., which was called the Waldorf A. C. not long ago, but for which no license could be obtained from Mayor Strong. Whether O'Rourke will manage this a rena or not cannot be ascertained, but sporting men say that if the Police Board grants a license, the club will be under O'Rourke's management. It is said in certain quarters that the board will not issue licenses except to persons who have already shown ability to run clubs according to the law, By that they mean to discriminate, it is said, against clube which put on cheap houts between unevenly matched and untrained burers.

It is unofficially stated that Cornell, through the Athletic Council, will announce next Monday night that unless Yale agrees to a three years' agreement for races on the Thames, all negotiations will be declared off and Cornell will arrange a big regatta on the Hudson at Pough-keepsie. It is said that the Ithacans will then axtead invitations to Columbia, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Harvard, and Yale to compete, and if the Blue does not care to enter, it will be nobody's funeral. The chances are 50 to 1 that Yale would not consider such a proposition, but it is more than probable that Harvard might look upon the inatter with favor. It is asserted in some quarters that Cornell's attitude is based upon a promise of a race with the Crimson at Poughkeepsie.

Cox Tolls of the Chicago Epic

Charles S. Cox, who was one of the members of the Fairfield County Golf Club who attended the amateur championship at Chicago, arrived from England on the Teutonic. In an interview with THE SUN reporter yesterday he gave his impressions of the experiences that befell Findley S. Douglas at that event. He said that both during the progress of the Douglas-Whig-ham match and afterward he was told that Douglas's clubs had been tampered with. "Was any member of the Chicago Golf Club or any amateur mentioned in regard to the tamring I" he was asked.

'No," replied Mr. Cox. "At no time was any the Chicago Golf Club ever suspected; nor was it ever suggested that the club had any prior cornigance of the occurrence. I was one of those who advised Douglas to let the matter drop." "How do you account for the publicity the matter has gained I' "Well, many of the professionals knew of it.

and it has been an open secret here among and it has been an open secret here among the amateurs ever since the tournament. As the integrity of the Chicago Golf Club or of any amateur East or West was never impurned, it has been considered best by all of Douglas's friends that the affair should not be publicly "According to a despatch from Chicago Mr.

"According to a despatch from Chicago Mr.
Whigham has alleged that the charge was inspired by you through pique at being disbarred from the amateur championship."

"In the first place I do not believe that Whigham ever made such a ridiculous statement. In the second place, Douglas's letter is a sufficient answer. Incidentally, I should like to thank Whigham for the compliment he pays my golfing abilities, by innuendo, for no one recognizes my inability to aspire to championship honors more than myself. I might also suggest to the members of the Chicago Golf Club, in discussing Douglas, to bear in mind Lord Beaconsfield's famous remark to Mr. Gladstone, that 'abuse is not argument, neither is uproar discussion."

"Did you meet any golfing friends of Douglas abroad!"

"Did you meet any goining friends of Douglas abroad?"

"Indeed I did, and they numbered some of the most prominent amateurs in Scotland. He has many warm friends in the Fairfield County Golf Club, but the remarks of his Scotch friends proved he is as well liked there as here."

The wisdom of holding the amateur and open championships of 1898 on different dates, as THE SUN has mentioned, is now under discussion among the golfers. In the Golfer the subject is debated at some length. Among those who advocate holding the events at different dates, as in Great Britain, are Ransom H. Thomas. S. L. Parrish, W. R. Betts, Devereaux Emmet, A. H. Fenn, and others. The probability that the championships will be held this year at the St. Andrew's Golf Club gives added interest to the views of John Reid, the ex-President of that club, who takes a position antagonistic to the golfers named above. Mr. Reid made the following statement to The Sun reporteryesterday:

it is my opinion." he said, "that this country on Wednesday and hissi on Saturday. Then make the open event seventy-two holes, and play it on Monday and Tuesday of the following week. This would tend to make each event stand out apart, each one from the other, and thereby lend more interest and distinction to both."

Particular interest was aroused among local players by a meeting of the stockholders of the club on last Tuesday evening, who were called together to "consider future plans of the club." A committee of five, including William A. Wheelock, E. Robbins Walker, the Rev. D. I. Schwartz. Jasper Lynch and James C. Parrish, was appointed to confer with the Lakewood Hotel and Land Association in regard to the renewal for a five-year term of the lease, which expires next August. This conference occurred at the Laurel House last evening, the company being represented by Samuel D. Davis, Capt. A. M. Bradshaw and Francis P. Freeman. The matter was generally discussed and the views of both parties taken into consideration for settlement at another meeting. Evidences that the finality of pattern in wheels and tires is still far in the future are multiplying every day. Talk about types being fixed is beginning to wane, and the opinion that the bicycle is again in a period of change from which it will emerge transformed is beginning to take root in the minds of the reflective. The restlessness and uncertainty of the trade and of riders are taken as signs that something is still greater in England, and riders wondering what is coming will do well to turn their gaze occasionally toward Great Britain. Frames pearing there every week, as well as new styles n gears. Experimenting in aluminum frames s going on in several of the largest factories A front driving chainless with 28-inch wheels and a square frame is said to be selling in quantities. Something in tires that is wholly novel is what its English inventor calls a vacuum tire. It has a secondary air chamber so arranged that by numping air into the tire proper the air in the other chamber is driven out, and, because of the construction, the walls of the secondary chamber are forced out against the tire walls as a secondary chum the air

In England there is an association, conducted on the co-operative plan, from which women exclusively can rent wheels by the quarter or by the year. The rates are low and yet scheduled so that the association will receive from three years' rental the original price of the wheel. The amount paid for leasing is credited to members who rent the wheels, less a percentage for expenses and repairs. For the poorer class of working women the plan seems much more suitable than the installment method, which causes payments to fall due with relentless regularity. In this coöperative plan members rent wheels as they want them and can afford it, yet all the time are laying up credit against an ultimate purchase. Sometimes two girls, or even three, combine to hire a wheel and take turns in using it, and the association makes no turns in using it, and the association makes no objection. To further protect the association against loss and encourage members, higher prices are charged the first year and successively

The mileage contest in progress among the

The mileage contest in progress amo New York Athetic Club wheetmen for the last two years for the Pendleton Cup has been brought to a conclusion. In May, 1896, a cycling member of the club offered a handsome silver cup to the bicycle division, the condition governing its possession being that each competitor must ride five miles every day until Jan. 1, 1897. A large number started in to compete for the cup, but the contest finally narrowed down to three riders, Myrick, Alley, and Meinacht. These men rode assiduously to secure the cup, reding off their five miles daily in the face of snow and rain and warm and cold weather. At the end of the year it was found that the three riders had compiled with all the conditions, and it was then agreed that the prize should stand for 1897. The enthusiasm manifested by the competitors aroused great interest among the club members. Daily reports were rendered throughout last year, and in the early part of December it was found that the men were still tied and that the prospect of the contest ending was very remote. A consultation was held with the donor of the cup and the men competing for it, and it was mutually agreed to end the contest and to present a cup to each rider. The contest was one of the most novel ever held by wheelmen, and the persistence of the three riders in covering five miles daily for two years, in all conditions of weather, showed marked devotion to cycling.

brave she was in her suffering, and how faithful. And yet, during all that time, she was unconsciously bringing disaster to her employer. Every moment of that day, while she was so bravely struggling, the exhalations from her body were ruining the delicate colors of the silk upon which she was working.

Alas, she did not know it! But when the choice silks came upon the market and it was found that the colorings were ruined, an investigation was made and the poor little woman was discharged! For what?

Simply because the sickness, which comes to every woman at certain times, had, unknown, imperceptibly, colored the gossamer silks over which she was toiling. This is a sad story, but it is absolutely true. It happened in Newark, N. J., and furnishes a very valuable lesson. It shows that women, however careful they may be, are often, unknown to themselves, exerting an influence, not only upon the persons, but also upon the things about them, which is by no means agreeable. It is unfortunate that such should be the case, but it is none the less true.

And yet, fortunately, it is a fact, proven beyond the shadow of a doubt, that women of the present day can, by availing themselves of the latest and best discoveries of science, almost wholly overcome the illeffects of the periodic sickness. It is true there has never been but one discovery for accomplishing this desirable end, but that one has proven to be so pure, so scientific. and so efficient, that it is being used almost universally. Here is what Mrs. Randolph Howell of Washington says upon this most important subject:

"I have often in the past found it impos sible to attend receptions and other social functions, owing to a temporary state of illness, but of late years I have been enabled to entirely banish all painful effects to myself and possible unpleasantness to others by the use of a discovery which I believe to be a boon to womankind-Warner's Safe Cure. I have been so wonderfully helped by the painless powers of this remedy-which has seemed like a friend in need—that I have urged its use upon nearly all of my lady acquaintances."

Women should not suffer, need not suffer, need not be unpleasing to those about them, if they will only use proper care and the best inventions of science for their help. There is every reason why they should be both healthy and happy; there is no reason why they should be even temporarily indisposed. Modern science and invention have rendered all this needless. Thousands of women have learned this, and can cheerfully testify to the happy condition they have been in since they learned what to do.-Adv.
